

ABOUT ALOGENT

All banks need to grow and prosper, to safeguard their customers and shareholders, and to reduce hidden friction points internally and externally.

Not so easy in these volatile times, with consumer demands relentlessly meeting rapid technology change, all within an unpredictable economy.

Whether your focus is on account growth, efficiency, cost reduction, or operational resilience, Alogent is how you can meet your strategic goals. We have been a leading provider of deposit automation and transaction processing solutions for well over 20 years. Because our client's success drives all we do, we continuously invest in all out innovation to bring you today's best solutions and spot the next opportunities on your planning horizon.

Today, our solution spectrum can be scaled to the needs of any size financial institution, from the smallest community bank to the largest global operation. We both integrate with and enhance the capabilities of your existing core and other specialized systems.

Our software solutions specifically focus on the transaction "ecosystem" of your specific environment, starting with capturing and digitizing transaction data, such as checks or loan documents, performing advanced fraud detection, and streamlined, comprehensive transaction processing. To meet account acquisition goals, we also offer best-in-class digital account opening.

Over 1,400 bank and credit union clients worldwide turn to Alogent to keep their competitive edge and satisfy their account holders' changing demands. They stay because we offer continuous upgrades, customizable, scalable, and secure solutions, paired with unmatched ongoing support.

Flexibly meet the next waves of change with the right technology platform and partner. Take advantage of our advanced payment processing and our growing array of innovative account holder self-services.
